Activity 2: Labelling a map

Use an atlas or globe to complete this task. Click on 'open map' in the top right of <https://www.oddizzi.com/teachers/> to use the Oddizzi interactive map if you do not have a globe or atlas at home or use Google Earth https://www.google.co.uk/intl/en\_uk/earth/.

1. On the next slide, locate and label all the countries in South America
2. Locate and label the following features:
  - Cerro Aconcagua, Argentina
  - Lake Titicaca, Peru/Bolivia
  - Angel Falls, Venezuela
  - La Paz, Bolivia
  - Machu Picchu, Peru
  - São Paulo, Brazil
  - Amazon Rainforest, Brazil

The Geography of South America

Look at the shape of the coastline if you're not sure how to find places
on the map.

Name of feature to locate:

Cerro Aconcagua, Argentina
Lake Titicaca, Peru/Bolivia
Angel Falls, Venezuela
La Paz, Bolivia
Machu Picchu, Peru
São Paulo, Brazil
Amazon Rainforest, Brazil

Use the OddPod map
or an atlas to complete this challenge.

Activity 3: Brazil Comparison

<https://www.oddizzi.com/teachers/explore-the-world/places/south-america/brazil/>

Read the information about Brazil. How does it compare to the UK?
Complete the table on the next slide.

Key Geography	Brazil	UK
Length of the longest river
Size
Population

Match the facts below to the correct countries in the table above:

River Severn: 354 km	Size: About 8,459,000 square kilometres
Population: 63,700,000 people	River Amazon: 6,516 km
Population: 195,000,000 people	Size: About 242,000 square kilometres

Extension: Find some facts of your own and add them to the table using additional rows.

Activity 4: Diary entry of a child from Brazil

- Family Life
- Transport
- Food and Drink
- Leisure
- Technology

After you have read the information, write a diary entry about a day in the life of a child from Brazil. Where do you live? What is school like? What jobs do your parents have? Where do you go shopping?

Remember to write in first person and include feelings as well as facts!

Activity 5: Exports in Brazil

1. Some of Brazil's main exports* are listed below. Tick the ones that you and your family might already use.

How is my life linked to Brazil?

You may be wearing shoes, or writing on paper made in Brazil. You may have flown in a plane put together by Brazilian engineers or your parents may drive a car made in Brazil. Do they drink coffee?

An export is something that one country grows or makes, and then sells it to another country.

To find out more about exports in Brazil, you can visit these pages:

<https://www.oddizzi.com/teachers/explore-the-world/country-close-up/brazil/economy-2/>

<https://www.oddizzi.com/teachers/explore-the-world/country-close-up/brazil/economy-2/food-footwear/>

'Made in Brazil' (or Industria Brasileira)

Iron ore, iron and steel

Petroleum oil

Cane and beet sugar

Soya beans and soybean oil cake

Paper and wood pulp

Chicken (frozen)

Coffee beans

Cars and car parts

Aircraft, spacecraft and launch vehicles

Beef (frozen)

Tobacco

Fruit juices

Gold

Rubber tyres

Footwear

*Brazilian exports are listed in order of importance to Brazil's economy.

Activity 6: Sport in Brazil

In 2014, Brazil hosted the World Cup and in 2016, the Olympic Games.

Read the following pages:

<https://www.oddizzi.com/teachers/explore-the-world/country-close-up/brazil/fifa-world-cup/>

<https://www.oddizzi.com/teachers/explore-the-world/country-close-up/brazil/olympic-games/>
(this page was written before the Olympic Games in 2016)

<https://www.oddizzi.com/teachers/explore-the-world/country-close-up/brazil/rio-south-east/landscape/physical-features/guanabara-bay/>

What do you think the benefits were of hosting these events? What do you think the drawbacks (problems) were? Consider different groups of people that live in the city of Rio and how they might have been affected by the events. Use the information that you have read and this table to help you:

Benefits of hosting sporting events	Drawbacks of hosting sporting events

Activity 7: Non-chronological report

Write a non-chronological report about Brazil. Use these links to help you:

<https://www.oddizzi.com/teachers/explore-the-world/places/south-america/brazil/key-facts/>

<https://www.oddizzi.com/teachers/explore-the-world/places/south-america/brazil/>

You could refer to:

- Capital city, population, size and official language
- The landscape including physical features such as rivers, rainforests and biodiversity (the amount of animal species living in the rainforests)
- Cities and rural communities
- Information you have learnt from activity 4 about life in Brazil
- Information you have learnt from activities 5 and 6 about exports and sport in Brazil

Remember to use subheadings and one topic per paragraph.

Activity 8: Brazilian sweets

Remember to wash your hands and ask an adult to help you before attempting this activity.

Brazilian brigadeiro recipe

In Brazil children celebrate their birthdays with friends and family. They eat delicious sweets such as brigadeiros, which are chocolate truffles.

Ingredients

3 tablespoons of unsweetened cocoa powder
15g of butter
1 (397g) tin of condensed sweetened milk
Sugar strands, sprinkle or desiccated coconut for decoration

Method

1. Put the cocoa powder, butter and condensed milk in a saucepan. With the help of an adult, put on a medium heat under the pan and stir the ingredients until they have combined. The mixture should also thicken. This should take around 10 minutes.
2. Take the pan off the heat and pour the contents onto a plate to cool.
3. When the gooey chocolate mixture is cool enough to handle, roll small amounts into small balls. You may need to rub a little bit of extra butter onto the palm of your hands to stop the truffles sticking to you!
4. Cover the balls by rolling them around on a plate of chocolate strands, sprinkles or coconut and place your finished chocolate treats in mini paper cups.
5. Store in the fridge. But, be warned, these truffles taste so good they won't last long!
